

ABSTRACT

Quick cooling device is disclosed for quick cooling of canned or bottled drink from a room temperature, quickly. A case has an inside space divided into a cavity and a device chamber, a door is provided on a front part of the case for opening/closing the cavity. Means for bringing a cold accumulation pack into contact with a drink container, and shaking the cold accumulation pack and the drink container together, to cool down drink in the container quickly is provided in the cavity. A refrigerating system is provided in the case for cooling the cold accumulation pack.